Campus Resources: UH Health Center
You’re worn down from midterms, you probably didn’t rest too much over Spring Break, and finals are looming- and spring is in the air, bringing with it plenty of germs and the dreaded flu virus. If you find yourself feeling not so hot, head over to the UH Health Center for a walk-in appointment. The UH Health Center also offers common immunizations, STD testing, allergy injections and has a pharmacy onsite. To see what else the UH Health Center has to offer and how they can keep you feeling your best, please visit http://uh.edu/admin/hc/.

FYI from the UAC: Core Curriculum
The state of Texas requires that every student graduating from a Texas public university take certain classes in order to meet the core curriculum requirements, which help contribute to a student’s well-rounded education and general knowledge. The UH Core Curriculum website lists the core requirements and the courses that can be used to fill each requirement, and is available to all students at http://www.uh.edu/academics/corecurriculum/. UH will honor core courses from other Texas public institutions as well– for example, if you take 3 hours of Humanities at a local community college, we will count it as 3 hours of Humanities here. However, it’s very important that you double-check that a course will count towards the core requirement before you take the course! If you need help doing this or are unsure what core requirements you still need to complete, come see your advisor in the UAC.

Meet Your Advisor: David Maner
Name: David Maner
Subjects I Advise: Biology and Biochemistry
Likes: Music, movies, playing guitar, Call of Duty, helping students, and common sense
Dislikes: Bad drivers and lack of common sense
Favorite Thing About UH: Small campus feel but in the heart of the city.
You May Not Know: I am a music and movies fiend! Just bring up music or movies, and I’ll talk your ear off. Two odd preferences, though:
1. I still buy CDs because I love having a hard copy, and then I upload the music on my computer/iPod as well.
2. I absolutely love the movie theater over renting/Netflix. I see a movie or two at the movies every week.
Also, I had the pleasure of studying abroad in China after I graduated from college. I recommend taking a semester and studying abroad either during your undergraduate career or after because it opens your eyes to a world that is so much bigger than Houston, Texas, or even the United States.
Accomplishment I’m Most Proud Of: I love working at UH, but I’m going to have to stick to my alma mater and say graduating from Texas A&M University. (Even prouder of the fact that I graduated in four years when I changed my major four times :)
